H.O.T. Guide Details Health Careers in CT

The Health Occupations & Technology (H.O.T.) Guide, developed by the Connecticut Area Health Education Center (CT AHEC) Network, is a resource for middle and high school students, academic and career counselors, teachers, school-to-career coordinators and other interested individuals, including adult learners. It is a comprehensive guide to over 85 health and biotechnology careers for which there are educational programs offered in Connecticut.

The guide provides valuable information about planning for college, financial aid, enrichment programs and educational opportunities in Connecticut. The guide also answers questions
