

FATIGUE MITIGATION

Residents/fellows are expected to come to work fit for duty. When a resident/fellow identifies themselves or an attending identifies the resident/fellow as being too fatigued to drive home there are several options for the resident/fellow:

- Call rooms/sleep quarters are available at each hospital
- A taxi or rideshare service (e.g. Uber, Lyft) can be utilized and will be reimbursed by the CAHC. The resident/fellow will initially pay for the service. A receipt should be submitted to the program coordinator for reimbursement. This service is available to take the resident/fellow to their home only. The resident/fellow is responsible for securing his/her own transportation back to the hospital or his/her vehicle.
- Public (i.e., bus) or private (i.e., friend, spouse) transportation if available.

Annual training regarding fatigue mitigation is required of all residents/fellows. See Institutional Curriculum.
