

Step-By-Step Online Application Instructions for Young Innovative Investigator Program (YIIP)

Due to the competitiveness of the program, YIIP has a shorter application timeline, than the dates indicated by The Graduate School. Applications will only be accepted to YIIP during the timeframe indicated by the call for applications, regardless of the Graduate School's deadlines.

During your application process, if you have questions, please contact YIIP Program Manager, Jolene Monahan Wilding at monahanwilding@uchc.edu.

Eligibility

In addition to the standard Graduate School requirements, you will need to submit the following to be considered for YIIP:

- Resume or Curriculum Vitae (CV)
- Personal Statement: Describe your background, talents, motivations, and other factors that have shaped career goals in the field of science and specifically in the field of regeneration. (Not to exceed one page, single spaced, 12-point font, 1-inch margins, no attachments)
- Research Experience Essay/Research Writing Sample: Write a one-page essay citing applicant's previous biological and/or biomedical research experience or exposure, interest in pursuing career as scientist and/or scholar in the field of regeneration, and statement of how this program will assist in achievement of career goals. (Not to exceed one page, single spaced, 12-point font, 1-inch margins, no attachments).
- Statement of Interest and Professional Goals/ Five Year Future Plan Essay: Write a one-page essay containing a five-year future plan that clearly outlines the applicant's academic pursuits and career goals including detailed plan to reach stated career goals. (Not to exceed one page, single spaced, 12-point font, 1-inch margins, no attachments).

These are submitted in the Essays & Documents section of the application. Please have the materials ready in Microsoft Word (.DOC) or Adobe Portable Document Format (.PDF).

- Two (2) letters of recommendation. Recommenders should indicate the capacity in which they know you (instructor in a course, supervisor in a lab, etc.) and assess your skills and potential success as a student. At least one letter of recommendation must be from a science instructor.

Recommenders can begin submitting letters prior to the completion of your application, as soon as you input their email addresses in the Recommender Information section. Applications are often incomplete because they are missing one or more letters of recommendation due to recommenders not being provided access in a timely manner. You should complete this section as early as possible.

Application Fee Waiver

As we are committed to promoting a diverse graduate community, the Graduate School has agreed to waive the $75-dollar non-refundable application fee for prospective YIIP students. Once you begin your online application, you must email the YIIP Program Manager stating that you are applying to the program to initiate the waiver. You will be notified when the waiver has been granted and how to proceed with your application submittal. Application fees will not be refunded if the application is submitted without completion of this step.
